uni-assist e.V is the working service point for international student applications, situated in Berlin. On behalf of the Protestant University of Applied Sciences (EvH RWL), uni-assist processes all study applications from German and foreign prospective students who submit proof of education from abroad. uni-assist checks whether the certificates and documents submitted are complete and whether the formal requirements for admission to the desired course of study are met.

The examination by uni-assist costs a processing fee, which the applicants have to pay themselves (see "8. Costs"). In return they can apply to several uni-assist universities at the same time and do not have to submit their documents more than once. Further information: www.uni-assist.de

11. | General information

Awarding criteria

The study places at the EvH RWL are assigned after a points ranking. This means that the applicants with the most points according to the criteria of the points catalog (see below) have the best chances for a study place.

For applicants who have obtained their university entrance qualification abroad and who are not citizens of the EU, 7% of first semester places are reserved. If fewer or the same number of applications are received from foreign students, all of them will receive a study place. If more applications are received from foreign students, the places will be allocated according to the points ranking.

Procedure: A ranking list is drawn up based on the number of points. The available study places will then be awarded in the order of the ranking list to the applicants with the most points. If the number of points is equal, preference is given to applicants who are taking up studies for the first time. Other cases will be decided by lottery.

Points are awarded for these criteria:

BA Social Work and BA Special Education/Inclusion:

- Academic achievement (average grade of the Abitur/specialized high school diploma) or result of the entrance examination
- (two-year) completed vocational training
- Self-organized assistance / personal budget
- Child rearing and/or care of relatives
- Proof of honorary activity or voluntary work
- Voluntary service / civil service
- Waiting period since obtaining the university entrance qualification

Master programmes

- Final grade (average grade achieved so far) from the qualified degree in social work or related fields
- Letter of Motivation
- Practical experience
- Professional activity in protestant or diaconal institutions
- Waiting time

For further information on the awarding of points see here.

Hardship application

An application for a hardship case (application for consideration as a so-called "hardship case" in the allocation of a study place) can only be submitted if it can be proven that the applicant has such serious health, social or family reasons that he/she cannot be expected to wait even one semester for admission, even when applying particularly strict standards. Recognition as a case of hardship is therefore only possible for a few people. The EvH RWL applies the evaluation criteria of the Foundation for University Admission "hochschulstart.de" when examining applications.

The application for recognition as a hardship case can only be submitted for one course of study and must be submitted by the application deadline at the latest - also via uni-assist. The application must be made in writing on a separate form, must be carefully substantiated and must be accompanied by suitable documents (e.g. medical reports from a specialist).

Admission or rejection notice

After the end of the procedure (approx. end of July for the winter semester and end of January for the summer semester) all applicants receive a confirmation of admission or rejection. In case of admission, you will receive a confirmation of admission via the EvH RWL application portal.

Only applicants on Bachelor programmes:

In case you receive a notice of rejection via the DoSV-portal, you may still be able to be allocated a spot via the waiting list. For this, you need to declare your participation in the coordinated waiting list procedure. You will receive an e-mail with the subject „Wichtiger Hinweis zum Koordinierten Nachrücken“. Here, you will find a link to confirm your participation in the waiting list procedure. Alternatively you can confirm your participation via the DoSV-portal by using the action-icons under "Meine Bewerbungen" ("My applications").

Only applicants on Master programmes:

You will receive a notice of rejection from EvH RWL and your timely and complete application will automatically be placed on the waiting list. You do not need to take further action.

With the notification of admission you will be given a deadline for acceptance, which you must meet, otherwise the place will be re-allocated. You will receive a date and further information on enrollment (registration) with the letter of admission.

The notice of admission is invalid if the enrollment is not made within the deadline or if the enrollment is refused or revoked according to the enrollment regulations of the EvH RWL.

BAföG

Information on study support in accordance with the Federal Training Assistance Act (BAföG) can be obtained from the Akademisches Förderungswerk der Ruhr-Universität Bochum, Universitätsstr. 150, 44801 Bochum, which is also responsible for the study support of students at the Protestant University RWL.

Semester contribution / Tuition fees

The amount of the semester fee is currently 315 EURO, but this amount may change when enrolling for the next semester. This contribution currently includes the NRW-Ticket for the use of public transport. Tuition fees are currently not charged.
